

F3 BOROUGH URGE NEW FREIGHT PLAN

Queens, Brooklyn and Richmond through rail connections with the trunk lines on the mainland, and that it would place the four boroughs on the main trunk line from New England to the South and West. The marginal railroad, Major Sullivan points out, would give the industries along the waterfront direct delivery of freight to their doors and direct connections with the markets of the country. The railroad connections also would be expected to relieve congestion in the harbor and avoid the waste made necessary by the shipment of empty cars back and forth to the Jersey shore.

Spur Tracks to Factory Sites
Would Facilitate and Cheap-en Loading.

The Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce made public yesterday a comprehensive plan for the development of railroad connections and freight terminal facilities for the boroughs of Queens, Brooklyn and Richmond. It was formulated by Major John P. Sullivan, an engineer formerly connected with the Board of Estimate, and has the endorsement of the commercial organizations of the three boroughs. Major Sullivan's plan differs somewhat from the report of the New York-New Jersey Port and Harbor Development Commission, given out a week ago.

Major Sullivan recommends the construction of a double track, electrically operated marginal railway along the Brooklyn and Queens water front from Bay Ridge on the south to Flushing Bay on the north. From this marginal railway spur tracks would be built to factory sites so that cars could be loaded on the plants.

The plan also provides for the construction of twin tunnels from Bay Ridge to Fort Hamilton under the Narrows to the vicinity of Rockaway, Staten Island. They would be connected on the Brooklyn side with the New York and Long Island Railroad, and on the Staten Island side with the New York and New Jersey Railroad, and thence by bridges across the Kill van Kull to the New Jersey shore.

The construction of a spur to Jamaica Bay is recommended. This would be expanded into a belt around the bay as a part of the port of New York.

Relief for Harbor Jam.

It is urged in behalf of the plan that the railroad connection provided for would give the boroughs of The Bronx,

"Gets-It"
Tickles
Corns
to Death

First Stops All Pain—Then Peels
the Corn Off.

Don't try to cut out corns, or rub them. Get rid of your corns. If you have corns, you will find "Gets-It" is the only remedy that will remove them.

Then watch that corn die peacefully as it had gone to sleep. Soon it is nothing but a loose piece of dead skin that you can lift right off with your fingers.

Get after them now. Your druggist has "Gets-It." Costs but a trifle—or you can get all if it is sent you by Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

CHURCHES URGED TO ADVERTISE MORE

Newspaper Space as Important as Preacher's Salary, Methodists Are Told.

ANALOGY IS DRAWN

Sermon and Newspaper Articles Compared as to Welfare Value.

"Every church should spend money for advertising and purchasing space in the newspapers, paying for such space as conscientiously and continuously as it does the preacher's salary," declared the Rev. J. T. Brabner Smith of the publicity department of the Committee on Conservation and Advance of the Methodist Episcopal Church at the closing session of the Chicago Area Council.

"Criticism of the newspapers, unless it is just, is harmful, and there should be cordial relationship and cooperation between the pulpit and the press. Both, if conscientious, are striving for the uplift and betterment of humanity. They may do it in different ways, but their motive and objective are the elevation of human society. Every preacher should know something about journalism, especially the conduct of the great daily newspapers. Preachers should at least be taught the elements of journalism."

"Both the good sermon and the good newspaper article have in them the elements of human interest and welfare and are centered round some personality. The great difference between a newspaper article and a sermon is, the preacher spends thirty minutes in coming to a peroration or climax, but the newspaper article hits the highway in the first sentence; the heart of the story is at the beginning and not at the end like the sermon."

"Too many preachers are fond of seeking personal publicity. The clergy should have cordial relations with the editors, and there should be personal contact. Every clergyman should know the editors of the city or country papers in the town in which he lives. While many good ministers deplore the amount of space devoted to crime in the newspapers, we must not forget that the editors have a good example to follow when we remember that crime is depicted nakedly and unmercifully in the Bible. What we should deplore is when the editors of the newspapers devote the details of crime, the exclusion of church, moral and other uplifting material in the paper."

"We have invariably found editors able, practical and willing to co-operate with the pastor and the church in any real, unselfish, uplifting movement. Chicago daily newspapers do splendid service in a moral, social and spiritual reform. They are the peers of all daily newspapers in dealing fairly with all churches and all sects. If preachers will cease to criticize and endeavor to co-operate, we can truthfully say that the motto of the Chicago Area Council is, 'Throw away your hammer and take a horn.'

SEE THEIR PARENTS FOR FIRST TIME IN SIX YEARS

Seventeen Polish Boys and Girls Rejoice Them Here.

The children have seen much of war and excitement generally since their parents left them with relatives and sailed to make homes in the new land for them, but it is doubtful if they ever had quite so hectic a time as when these same parents charged down upon them yesterday. The children were brought to this country by Dr. Stanislaw Hanczyk of the Polish Public Health Service.

Although the seventeen were happy, however, there are still 10,000 children in central Europe who are separated from their mothers and fathers by many miles of water and who are waiting for the seven were the first contingent to come, but the American Red Cross and the Polish-American Orphan Relief Association hope to bring many more to this country.
